

Issues in Contraception Seminar

The three-hour Issues in Contraception Seminar provides nurses and other health professionals with an update on the current research, information and recommendations about contraception.

Contraceptive updates can also be tailored to suit individual or organisational training and information needs in the area of contraception. This course can be delivered in your workplace and outside Brisbane.

Eligibility & Pre-requisites

This seminar is targeted at nurses and health professionals who work in a clinical setting and provide contraceptive services.

Course Objectives

- To provide nurses and allied health professionals with an update on the latest research and current issues in contraception
- Identify the latest key research on contraception
- Discuss the client impacts of contraception changes and research
- Provide contraceptive consultations that are informed by best practice

Course Content

Course content will vary depending on 1) qualifications and experience of participants, 2) research and trends and 3) needs of the participants.

Course Materials

- Sexual Health & Family Planning Australia. (2006). Contraception: an Australian Clinical Practice Handbook. (Dependant upon payment option)
- FPQ Publications CD Rom
- Handouts of powerpoint presentations

For more information and enrolment:

Family Planning Queensland
PO Box 215
Fortitude Valley QLD 4006

Phone: 07 3250 0240
Email: info@fpq.com.au
Website: www.fpq.com.au