

Understanding sexual behaviours in children and adolescents (Traffic Lights framework part 1)

CHCCHILD404A Support the rights and safety of children and young people

> Course

When children demonstrate sexual behaviours, it can be difficult to know whether it is a normal and healthy aspect of development or if it is something to be concerned about.

Participants in this practical course will explore resources and gain skills to identify and support the development of healthy sexual behaviours and to protect children and adolescents from harm or abuse.

> Who should attend?

Professionals working with children and/or adolescents across a range of settings including:

- schools
- early childhood
- disability
- child protection
- youth and community
- health care

> Course content

The way adults interpret sexual behaviours affects how they respond to, support and protect children and young people. This training will help participants to:

- understand sexual development as a normal aspect of childhood and adolescence
- use the Traffic Lights framework to understand and identify the characteristics of normal, healthy sexual behaviours as well as those which are concerning, problematic or harmful
- incorporate practical strategies for promoting healthy sexual development within their workplace
