Comperes talk to the National Clinical Advisor for Marie Stopes International, Jill Michelson, about the group developing Australia's first Sexual Health Week and launching it yesterday in conjunction with Family Planning Qld and Sexual Health & Family Planning ACT. She states that recent research found that nine out of ten sexually active adults have had sex without a condom and that 48% of the same group were not in an exclusive relationship. Michelson notes that the 35-40 age group was startling as 57% of them never had an STI checkup and that men are not as likely to have a checkup as females are.

Michelson remarks that there needs to be a mandatory curriculum for sexual health education in Australia and that parents need to be included. © Media Monitors 2009
